Join Us

The Sun Valley Cerebrovascular Conference is a family-friendly, three-day event that will include discussions on the historical context of current stroke treatments and devices, as well as on emerging therapies and technologies for the treatment of hemorrhagic and ischemic stroke. The conference will feature national and international key opinion leaders in cerebrovascular disease. The program is designed to be dynamic, with short lectures punctuated by roundtable discussions in morning sessions, followed by case presentations, hot topics and head-to-head debates during evening sessions.

A Destination That Delivers

The Sun Valley Cerebrovascular Conference will take place at the Sun Valley Conference Center in Sun Valley, Idaho, which offers ample networking opportunities and is easily accessible with direct flights from multiple major cities. This meeting occurs at the same location as the Allen & Co. Sun Valley Conference which features such attendees as Jeff Bezos, Tim Cook, Mark Zuckerberg, and Elon Musk.

Reach Your Target Audience

Take advantage of the opportunity to showcase your technology, products and services to 100+ medical providers and staff including neurologists, neurosurgeons, interventional neuroradiologists, Intensivists, hospitalists, EMS providers, nurses, stroke coordinators and physical therapists. Connect with stroke experts and decision makers and reinforce your brand influence with cerebrovascular experts.
